

(J) ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A disposable pacifier attacher comprising a strap of a disposable, resilient, material such as plastic with an adhesive portion at the top, and a means for detachably attaching a pacifier to the pacifier attacher at the bottom. The adhesive portion at the top is used to detachably attach the strap to a baby's garment. The detachable attaching means at the bottom is used to detachably attach a pacifier to the strap. In the preferred embodiment, the top adhesive containing portion is larger than the width of the remaining length of the strap and is formed into a shape, such as a circle or star. The pacifier is attached to the strap by placing the bottom of the strap through the pacifier handle, and using the adhesive provided at the end of the strap to secure the end of the strap to a portion of the strap containing a non-stick material for easy removal of the pacifier when disposing of the pacifier attacher. Non-stick paper is provided to cover the adhesive portions until needed.